

Design Projects (M. A.)

The Master Programme of Design Projects in Krefeld is first an Application and second a Research related programme concerning cross-curricular Modules where practical and theoretical aspects intensively interdepend.

The interaction of Theoretical and Practical approaches forms an excellent teamworker with abilities in taking charge of any design-related works as planning, sketching, reflecting, concepting, presenting and managing.

In addition the Krefeld Master of Design Projects forms a design character who is able to fulfill three primordial demands for the future design profession: An excellent and flexible designer who is able to learn a life long, due to the theoretical basic skills in the Modules; a person who is able to conduct, lead and implement Design Projects as Services and Products, finally a designer reflecting social processes as a primordial part of design.
