JITSI Meet is an open-source video conferencing platform that is operated entirely within the Hochschule Niederrhein. JITSI Meet is available to university administrative staff and is not intended for instructional use.
JITSI Meet enables meetings with up to 10 participants and is intended to be used whenever a DFN video conference room is not available.

To participate in a JITSI Meet video conference, a laptop or PC with a microphone and camera and a stable internet connection are required. Use of JITSI Meet smartphone apps is prohibited at the Hochschule Niederrhein as they use trackers.

Each video conference must be password protected by the organiser at the beginning. The password is communicated to the participants shortly before the meeting. The organiser also concludes the meeting as the last participant. If there are other participants in the meeting, the organiser will ask them to leave the room or remove them manually.

Image, sound and video recordings of the meeting are prohibited.

Users of JITSI Meet are obliged to comply with the IT usage regulations of the Hochschule Niederrhein.

The users of JITSI Meet must comply with the legal requirements, in particular with regard to copyright protection.

When processing personal data, the applicable data protection regulations must be observed.

When communicating via JITSI Meet, the generally applicable rules of courtesy must be observed.
